About one year ago I was taken with a severe attack of disease of the kidneys, from which I suffered severely. I applied to our local physiciau, and not receiving any help I called on Mr. John A. THE OLD FLAG

Captured by Our Washington Boys at Toronto-Convention of the North American St. George's Union-International Courtesies and Amenities.

St. George's societies have existed in this country from pre-revolutionary times. That of Charleston, S. C., is 146 years old; that of the Philadelphia Sons of St. George, whose St. George's hall is one of the noblest edifices In that city, and among whose members shine the illustrious names of Robert Morris, Benjamin Franklin, Gov. Penn, Bishop White, and Judge Peters, is more than 100 years of age, while that of New York is scarcely less venerable.

The objects of these St. George's societies are largely benevolent and somewhat social. They aim to benefit by advice and pecuniary nesistance such worthy English immigrants as are stranded on these shores and need a brotherly helping hand, and also to bring those citizens of English blood and descent into closer social relations.

Five years ago a St. George's society was organized in this city, which now numbers nearly 100 members. In its brief life it has done great good, and has nover failed to relieve any worthy case applying for relief. One year ago, when the North American St. George's uplay convention was held in this One year ago, when the North American St. George's union convention was held in this city, the hospitalities it tendered to the deleeity, the hospitalities it fendered to the dele-gates were characterized by them as "royal," and were profered in the most public spirited manner without regard to expense. This year the convention was held in Toronto, Canada, and the Toronto society.

spurred by the example of our society, fairly yied with it in the splendor and in the whole souled heartiness of its arrangements.

The delegates from our local St. George's society are Messrs. George Francis Dawson, the president of the society; William S. Roose, Lewis Abraham, Dr. William Grinsted, Charles F. Benjamin, and — Pomeroy, some of whom have just returned, delighted with the reception given them by their Canadian brothers.

They took with them a beautifully painted and enameled cross of St. George on a shield, with the flags floating above and a suitable inscription, as a memento for the Toronto St. George's society of their visit. In return the Toronto society presented the Washington society a large and beautiful union jack—the first British flag captured by us for many a long year.

Outside the business of the convention, the festivities lasted from Tucsday evening last to Friday afternoon. They opened Tucsday evening in the Toronto city hall, which, beautifully decorated with the flags of England and America, had been placed at the service of the convention by the mayor and city conseil with addresses of volceme by city council, with addresses of welcome by city council, with addresses of welcome by his worship, the mayor of Toronto. President Barlow Cumberland, of the Toronto St. George's society, and Lieut. Col. Dennison, to which responses were made by President Mason and delegates from other visiting St. George's societies, all of which were characterized by ability, fervor, and international good will. Later in the evening, at the Toronto beat club house, the delegates partook of the "loving cup," and with speeches and songs enjoyed themselves until bedtime. On Wednesday afternoon, during a recess of the generation good of the delegates On Wednesday afternoon, during a recess of the convention, some 200 of the delegates, their ludies, and friends, sat down beneath marquees to enjoy the sumptuous hospitali-ties of J. Hubert Mason, esq., of Toronto, the president. Toasts to the queen and President Arthur were drank with cheers, and the speeches made were of a very pleasing char-acter. At the conclusion of the collation the party were taken in carriages through some twenty miles of the beautiful suburbs of wenty miles of the beautiful suburbs of the queen city of the west," as Toronto is termed. Thursday afternoon the delegates were taken to a reception given by his honor the lieutenant governor of the province at government house, and subsequently by steamer across the bay to Hanlan's point, steamer across the bay to Hanlau's point, where Hanlan gave a beautiful exhibition of funcy rowing, and subsequently around the bay and to the grand buildings of the coming industrial exhibition, which opens at Toronto in a few days. In the evening at the principal hotel, the Queen's, some 200 sat down to a splendid banquet, which lasted until 3 a. m. the next morning, and at which many admirable speeches were made—especially that of Gov. Robinson—and the best of international brotherly good feeling was exhibited. At the close of the convention the flag was presented to our St. convention the flag was presented to our St. George's society, amid the cheers of all present, and later in the afternoon Mr. Dawson had the very significant and exclusive honor paid him of taking luncheon with the governor and his son at the government house. THE REMOVAL OF THE SIGNS.

Dream of an Avenue Merchant, and Certain Apt Biblical Quotations.

"Don't you know," said an old well known merchant on Pennsylvania avenue yesterday, "I had the most peculiar dream last night. I was out to a camp meeting yesterday, and being a little dyspeptic when I roturned home swallowed three or four very stiff cocktails before going to bed, and no sooner had my head touched the pillow than I began to dream of Biblical readings and of business troubles, and of the inconveniences to which we merchants have been subjected during the last several years by the continual changes in local rulers. My dream went back to the beginning of a period about a year area, when the we merchants have been subjected during the last several years by the continual changes in local rulers. My dream went back to the beginning of a period about a year ago, when the board of district commissioners was completely changed. I thought that I was living in that past, and that the future was revealed to me as set forth in chapter ix., verse 13, Revelations, viz: 'And I beheld and beard an augel flying through the midst of heard an augel flying through the midst of Heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe, to the inhabiters of the earth by reason wee, to the inhabiters of the carth by reason of the other voices of the trumpets of the three angels which are yet to sound.' According to my construction, the 'inhabiters of the earth' meant the business men of the district, and the 'trumpets of the three angels' meant the voices of the three recongets' meant the voices of the three reconstructed commissioners. Then I saw another angel who said to me as set forth in Revelations xvii., 11: 'And the merchants of the earth shall weep and mearn over her; for no man buyeth their merchandise any more. This struck me as very singular, the issue of the payer a direct hearing on the for it seemed to have a direct bearing on the recently inaugurated movement on the part of the commissioners to haul down our signs and remove our sign boards erected around gas lamps and tree boxes at quite a considerable expense. These signs are simply placards of the progress of trade. They are put forward as evidence of our business thrift. Certainly they do not mar the symmetry or the beauty of the streets, and do no harm to the lamp posts or trees. Why don't you know, Mr. Reporter, that the scriptures advocate the showing of signs? Why, the sixteenth chapter of St. Mathew will show you in its description of the parable of the leaves and fishes that the pharisees and the saduces invoked the Saviour to show them and remove our sign boards erected around saducees invoked the Saviour to show them a sign. His answer to them is set forth as follows in verses two and three, Mathew sixteenth:
"He answered and said to them, When it is evening, yo say it will be fair weather, for the sky is red; and in the morning, it will be foul weather to-day for the sky is red and lowering. Oh, yo hypecrites, yo can discern the face of the sky, but can ye not discern the signs of the times? "Now, that is just what the merchants will say if this new order of the commissioners is "The Bible further teaches us that generation after generation seeketh after a sign. Luke xxi, verse 25, also adds: "'And there shall be signs in the sun and in the moon, and in the stars.' Now, don't you think the new order is arbitrary?'

The reporter spaketh not in reply. He mused among his own individual self as to who was the best master to serve. The commissioners were severe in some things, he knew, and he also knew that the merchants know, and he also know that the merchants did not alway fulfill what their signs promised; so he thumped his memory and recalled the following Biblical quotation, Luke xxi, verse 46, as apropos to the occasion: "Beware of the scribes, which desire to walk in long robes, and love greetings in the markets, and the highest seats in the synagogue, and the chief rooms at feasts.'

Interesting Letter to the Commissioners Upon the Subject of Granting Licenses. The following letter from the grand worthy chief templar was mailed the commissioners yesterday : TO THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMNIA—Gestiones: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your jetter of July 24 in reply to mine of July 23, wherein I took the liberty of asking if the United States had resigned its right as owner of real states to approve or disapprove of licenses. estate to approve or disapprove of licenses being granted for the sale of liquors on the same side of the square, or on the side of the ferred to. From this opinion I take the lib-erty of quoting the following: "You find a square occupied by parties not owners, nor the agents of owners, nor yet resident house-keepers, the owners of which for the practical purposes of the license acts, has no existence. shall the applicants for license be compelled to secure the permission of such owners? Does the law contemplate such an impossible act?" The law says that "it shall be the duty of the proprietor of every such place (bargroom, sample room, or tippling house) to present with his application for license the written permission of a majority of the owners of real estate and a majority of the residents keeping house on the same side of the square where it is desired to locate such business and the side of the square fronting opposite the same, which permission shall be certified to by the assessor, and such license shall not issue until approved by the board of commis-sioners." The United States is the owner of a large amount of real estate in this district. and the attorney for the district pays a high compliment to the United States when he says that it is an impossible act for applicants for liquor license to secure the permission of such an owner. Whether it is possible for such applicants to secure the permission of the United States or not is a question which the clear expression of the law relieves the commissioners and the attorney of the dis-trict from considering.

Permit me to invite your attention to the fact that the assessor in designating in the applications for liquor licenses the owners of real estate other than the United States on the same side of the square where it is destred to locate such business and the side of the square fronting opposite the same, he does so properly by name, but whenever the United States is the owner he contents himself with designating the department of the government, which, for the time being, occupies such real estate. It is very evident that the treasury, postoffice, interior, and other departments own no real estate, and that the incorrect designation is made by the assessor to give plausibility to the questions contained in the attorney's opinion: "Shall the applicants for license be compelled to secure the permission of such an owner?" and "Does the law contemplate such an impossible act to the property of th act?" It is not an impossible act for applicants for liquor license to ask congress for the desired permission. Congress alone has the power to grant the permission exacted by the law, unless that power has been dele-gated to the board of commissioners, which seems probable in view of the very large number of bar rooms, sample rooms, and tip-pling houses which are surrounding the public buildings. Of such transfer of au-thority I have, however, failed to find any record, and, if it exists, I hope that you will confer the favor of directing me to it.

confer the favor of directing me to it.

The Order of Good Templars and all other order loving people and law abiding citizens of this district are firm in their desire that the license acts be properly interpreted and faith fully executed, and the hope is entertained that this desire is shared by yourselves.

Col. William R. Drinkard was born in North Carolina on March 1, 1818, and was therefore in the sixty-sixth year of his agu at the time of his death. His father moved to Williamsburg, Va., and soon afterward Col. Drinkard entered William and Mary college, and graduated in 1837 from the law department. He settled in Petersburg, and practiced his profession in that city, gaining great reputation as an advocate his practice extending as far as Richmond. He was elected president of the board of public works of the state of Virginia in 1852, and served in category for the servers. apacity for three years. He came to this ity in 1858, and was appointed chief clerk of he War department under Secretary Floyd, and held that position during Buchanan's term. On the breaking out of the war he went to Rich-mond and resumed the practice of law, and at the close of the war he returned to this city and practiced his profession until ill health caused him to abandon it. For the last ten years he had been an invalid.
